BART president reaps expense benefits

Last in a series
By JUSTIN ROBERTS

The Bay Area Rapid Transit District learned long ago that it doesn't get "something for nothing" from its contractors and suppliers.

And, according to his expense account reports, BART gets very little from Board President Richard O. Clark — unless the taxpayers are billed for it.

That apparently covers the squeak in his swivel chair in Clark's office at the Grubb and Ellis development firm in Oakland.

What's more, if a BART district citizen wants to call Clark at his office, BART will be billed for having the citizen's call come through the Grubb and Ellis switchboard, for having someone answer the phone and for talking to Clark on the telephone in his office.

Clark's monthly expense reports show he is turning in claims billing BART for a pro rata share of the office he is assigned at Grubb and Ellis, 1333 Broadway, Oakland.

Clark's expense reports bill BART $25 monthly for "office space" at Grubb and Ellis, plus $25 for use of the telephone and an additional $15 for a "PBX charge," which means use of the switchboard relaying the calls BART pays for. There's also a monthly charge of $10 for "reception (messages)" levied against the transit district.

In addition to Grubb and Ellis charging BART a fair $4 hourly rate for secretarial services, Clark turns in supplementary secretarial bills for work reportedly done for him by a Ms. Roberta Baitinger at the same Oakland address.

Clark claimed $88 extra for Ms. Baitinger's services in his July expense report and he turned in billing from Grubb and Ellis for pro rata services $150.

In June, he also submitted a $150 bill from Grubb and Ellis for office space and services, plus an additional $100 for Ms. Baitinger.

In March, the development company, according to Clark's expense accounts, billed him (and BART) for $90 and in April for $108 for various services. However, in those months, BART was not charged a share of the office space. In March, Clark claimed $124 for Ms. Baitinger's services and in April he had her down for $132.

Clark's office at Grubb and Ellis is only a mile from BART headquarters, where there are secretarial pools, staff assistants, and all the help a director might ask free of charge to directors — if not the taxpayers.

Clark had been vice president for public affairs at Grubb and Ellis until the firm was reorganized earlier this year.

Clark last January even put his former campaign manager on the expense account for $400 as a "part-time secretary," according to his expense report for that month.

The BART board president early this year made an effort to induce other board members to hire Jerry Jackson, the former campaign manager, as his "staff assistant" but the proposal made under wraps, died after it was exposed in the press.

When asked on several occasions by reporters whether it was he or Grubb and Ellis who was paying Jackson, Clark maintained that he paid him from personal funds — even though Jackson occupied space at Grubb and Ellis during Clark's campaign for election to the BART board.

Those questions arose when Jackson made it a practice to distribute publicity releases supporting Clark's campaign during regular meetings of the transit district board.

Expense reports show Clark making it a practice to eat at public expense whenever there is a board session or committee meeting. Expense reports for months ranging from last July back to last December show him charging BART for meals on days there are meetings at BART headquarters that last as little as 45 minutes to an hour.

Clark as president draws $5,000 per year more than the basic fee paid to directors for attending meetings. The basic fee of $50 per meeting, or five meetings per month, adds up to $3,000 yearly. This gives the board president $8,000 yearly pay for serving in that capacity.

Some of Clark's practices as board president are in direct conflict with a comprehensive state-ordered audit of the district's affairs last year. The audit, conducted by Cresap, McCormick and Paget, Inc., for the state Senate Public Utilities, Transit and Energy Committee, was ordered to evaluate practices the district should end.

On Page V-46, the highly critical audit stated, "In one instance, meal expense was charged the day of a board committee meeting without justification."

The auditors apparently concluded their study before Clark became president of the board. His expense reports show he has made it a practice since last December. Some committee meetings start at 9 a.m. and end by 10 a.m. or shortly thereafter, but Clark has been billing the district for meals on those days.

In its examination of district procedures, the CMP study stated in part, "... in the past it appeared to be common practice to send several BART staff representatives to industry conventions. At a time of fiscal austerity and the need for operating subsidies, this policy, if it continues, should be questioned."

As reported in the preceding article, BART's vice president Elmer Cooper went on a $4,000 European jaunt at public expense for what he justified as a trip to a transit meeting in Nice, France last May. In his expense reports, Cooper billed the dis-

Valley campus dedicated as hundreds watch

LIVERMORE — Under beautiful autumn skies on a grassy field, the proud young school stood nearby as a host of educators and dignitaries formally dedicated the $1.3 million, 147-acre Chabot College Valley campus.

An overflow crowd of valley residents watched as their 12-year-old dreams of an institution of higher learning being constructed in the Livermore-Amador Valley finally came true.

Valley campus Dean Dr. Barbara Mertes beamed as she watched plaques unveiled to mark the community college's entrance into the field of higher education.

Keynote Speaker Dr. Marie Martin, director of the Community College Unit of the U.S. Office of Education, emphasized that two-year learning institutions have a definite place in higher education, whether it be the goal of a certificate of accomplishment in the vocational training field, or the completion of lower division requirements towards a baccalaureate degree from a state college or univerisity.

"California remains the only state which provides tuition-free education, kindergarten through grad school — you are the envy of other states," she said to loud applause.

The Native Sons of the Golden West presented a bronze plaque to be permanently on display at the new campus. That presentation was led by Grand President Daniel J. Sheean.

Nicholas DiTota, president of the Livem ore Lions Club, presented a plaque which will also be on permanent display.

The Tri-Valley Exchange Club presented a Freedom Shrine exhibit of historic American Documents to hang in the Library. A plaque completing the display was also given.

Charles J. Fracisco, Dr. Mertes father, presented a $250 perpetual scholarship, adding that more money would be made available if the campus continued to grow and prosper.

The Chabot Hayward Concert Band provided music which completed the dedication ceremonies, led by Elliott Charnow.

Now in its second quarter of operation, the Valley campus boasts over 1,000 day students, made possible by the completion of a fifth building housing secretarial, machine skills and electronics laboratories.

The campus also offers courses at other valley locations, including many high schools. These include basic courses, plus many classes of experimental or general interest.

Chabot's Valley campus offers students tuition-free education leading to a two-year degree, certificate of completion or completion of the lower division requirements of state colleges, completely transferable.

For further information on courses available or enrollment information, call the campus at 455-5300.

Dr. Marie Martin of the U.S. Office of Education delivers the keynote address at the dedication of the Valley campus on Sunday.

Ken Lamb has problems

Traffic can be troublesome

Like the boy who cried "Wolf!", an unnecessary stop sign can lead to lots of trouble.

Pleasanton Traffic Engineer Ken Lamb has to deal with requests and pleas from all members of the community to put a stop sign here, a traffic signal there and left turn lanes in the other place, but like traffic engineers everywhere he has to veto most such requests.

To those who make the pleas, it seems Lamb is ignoring the wishes of the citizens and courting disaster as well, but he is firmly convinced — as are all traffic engineers — that unnecessary traffic controls are an actual danger.

The reasoning is simple — if a stop sign, for example, is placed, at an intersection where there's not enough traffic to warrant it, then motorists will get in the habit of ignoring it.

Unfortunately, if motorists get in the habit of ignoring a stop sign at a quiet intrsection, they are more likely to ignore one at a busy intersection and get involved in an accident.

There is a complex "warrant" system developed by traffic engineers to determine if a traffic control deviceof any sort is needed at an intersection, but often the cries of emotional residents outweigh logic.

Parents, especially, are prone to say "If that stop sign saves the life of just one child, isn't it worth it?" The problem is that the stop sign may cause motorists to begin to treat traffic control devices with less attention and thus cause accidents.

"We'd have stop signs at every corner in the town if we started putting them in every time people ask" said Lamb. As far as crosswalks go, Lamb has been quoting a study in San Diego before various civic groups that shows that crosswalks (without traffic signals) actually are more dangerous than jaywalking.

The logic behind this is simple. A person in a crosswalk has a feeling of safety because of the big solid white lines that are clearly visible — to him.

To an approaching motorist, however, the lines appear about ¾ of an inch high. The pedestrian is always more visible than the crosswalk.

However, the pedestrian feels safer inside the lines and thus might not exert quite as much caution as he would if he were jaywalking. Aside from watching for a stray policeman, the jaywalker knows he has to cross the street on his own wits and agility and cannot rely on the drivers to let him pass.

The effect of traffic signals (''Not stoplights'' Lamb says) is also sometimes overrated. Lamb believes that the vexing intersection of St. Marys and Main Street will actually have a longer wait for motorists when and if a light goes in.

He encouraged passersby and the city council last week to notice how many cars were waiting at St. Marys Street to make a left turn onto Main Street. Seldom if ever are there more than three cars and the wait is almost never more than a minute.

"If people are waiting more than a minute more than half the time, a signal might speed things up" Lamb concedes, but now drivers actually move faster than they will after a signal goes in.

In terms of relieving downtown congestion while still allowing parking and truck loading and unloading, Lamb feels the only solution is the construction of other streets like the Del Valle Parkway or Peter Street.

"The Del Valle Parkway would remove thousands of cars a day from downtown" Lamb asserted and much of the present controversy would disappear.

But controversy is a way of life for traffic engineers, because everyone drives a car and everyone therefore is an expert on how best to solve the problems.

Incorporation meet set Monday

Taxpayers for Local Control through Incorporation will hold its monthly meeting Monday, Oct. 27 to discuss the status of the simultaneous filing of three separate incorporation papers for a single city in the San Ramon Valley.

The applications for incorporation will be reviewed by the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors on Wednesday, Nov. 5 beginning at 2 p.m. The board has 90 days to make a decision on which, if any, of the incorporation applications is proper, and may make a decision or order a continuance on the matter at that time.

TLC President Don Sledge said the name for the proposed city will be announced at Monday's meeting. A name has already been tentatively submitted, but opposition to that name has prevented its formal disclosure until agreement can be reached.

More than 200 names were submitted to the Name-the-Town committee, of historical, political or regional nature. Sledge said it wouldn't be possible to please everyone with a single name, but one of "neutral" effect would be agreed upon eventually, he hoped.

The meeting will take place at the Education Center, 699 Old Orchard Drive in Danville beginning at 8 p.m.

Elm disease prevention told

There are steps you can take to prolong the life of a tree, and even fend off disease — such as the deadly Dutch Elm plague which has now invaded several Northern California counties.

Experts in the Agricultural Commissioner's office and with the Farm Advisor agree that there is nothing to be done once Dutch Elm Disease has been detected. Any elm or its genre within 50 feet of an infected tree will have to be removed as the only answer to that blight.

Entire neighborhoods in some eastern states have been robbed of all their trees by this disease-carrying beatle. Vast tree-removal programs are now underway in Napa and Sonoma counties. The disease has also been detected in Palo Alto.

If there is no saving a tree once infected, what can be done to stave off that infection? The Times asked the East Bay's top experts, and got this advice:

Careful pruning of weakened or dead limbs, removal and destruction of trees and limbs by burning, chipping or burying to eliminate brooding places for elm bark beetles. (Pruning should only be carried out in the dormant — winter — season.)

Irrigation is one way of "flushing out the tree's system" to prevent disease-carrying beetles from nesting. "Routine watering two or three times a summer ought to be enough," the Farm Advisor's Office in Hayward suggests.

Chemical sprays can help maintain "a healthy tree." Since DDT is no longer available, methoxychlor can be applied by spraying or mist-blowing on trees. This material biodegrades rapidly in the soil after being washed from trees by rain.

Injection into trees using a derivative of benomyl as been effective against fungus, but it is expensive and must be repeated every two years. Bidrin or Metasystox R are also used as systemic injections, but these also are expensive.

Scientists are working to develop biological controls for tree diseases, and some of these are now being tested in Michigan. No such experimentation has been undertaken in California.

The State Legislature recently voted close to $1 million to help fight Dutch Elm Disease, but "all of that money is being used in Napa and Sonoma counties just to remove and destroy blighted trees," The Times was advised.

If you have a question, or want to confirm the possibility of disease in your elms (Dutch or American species, Zelkova and Planera also) then call the Agricultural Commissioner's Office in Hayward (toll free via 846-4457 week days) or in Concord.

Library use makes for money

Last of a series

The taxpayer with a $40,000 house is paying about $17 a year toward the Contra Costa library system if he lives in San Ramon (even if he uses the Dublin library as so many San Ramon families do.)

Dublinites and Pleasanton homeowners, on the other hand, are kicking in about $25.50 a year for their local libraries. In Livermore, the tab comes to $22.

Meanwhile, the Pleasanton branch library is open a mere 41 and a half hours a week because of Alameda County's current fiscal headaches, while Contra Costa County is able to keep the San Ramon Valley facility in Danville open 60 hours a week.

"Money isn't everything," cautions Contra Costa head librarian Clarence Walters, when questioned on his county's tight budgeting. "Alameda County has a bigger materials budget, for example. "It would be better if we had some additional funds in that area."

The Danville library, serving an estimated population of 35,000, has $24,500 this year to spend on books. That excludes periodicals, pamphlets, documents and audio-visual materials directly provided by the county.

Alameda County is working on a population figure of 29,000 for Dublin and is allowing that library $37,240 this year for materials. The figure is larger than normal because the county is trying to build up Dublin's book collection in preparation for a planned move from a 7,000-odd square foot leased building into a permanent library of about 12,000 square feet.

Pleasanton's population is about 3-,000, but that branch gets only $29,262 this year for materials.

On the shelves in Danville are 36,000 books; in Pleasanton, 35,000; in Dublin, 41,000; and in Livermore (where the population is largest, at 55,000), 65,000 books.

Aside from comparing bald statistics, it's hard for an outsider to compare one system against another.

Responsiveness is one area Livermore librarians pride themselves on. They work harmoniously with an interested and supportive library board of local citizens appointed by the City Council.

The library has been in existence since 1909 and has occuphed its present building since 1966. Head librarian Don Knolte has been with the library almost 20 years, and answers to no one except city officials and the library board.

Knolte claims the Livermore library, like all the others, borrows books freely from other libraries including the state library and can usually provide a requested book in four days.

On the other hand, county librarians say they benefit from the constant contact with other county staff members. The richness of their program offerings, they say, is made possible by everyone working together and bringing fresh ideas to the fore.

County-wide extension programs like the Bookmobile and a program for Spanish-speaking adults are another benefit of the county system.

In addition, a teletype system ties branches together and makes it possible for one branch to borrow from another at a day's notice.

In both Contra Costa and Alameda Counties, a branch's materials budget is influenced by the number of books checked out each year at that branch.

In other words, if you want to improve your local branch: use it as much as possible!

trict for hotel bills and per diem costs while he was visiting Paris, Amsterdam and Copenhagen.

To date, there has been no public report on what he learned to benefit BART for the expense of his trip.

Clark last June billed BART for a car rental in Honolulu, which he explained in his expense account as "auto travel-Honolulu-review mass transit."

His expense account for June shows airline fare to Washington, D.C. to attend a trip to an Urban Mass Transportation Administration conclave. Airline documents however, show that Clark's itinerary also included a junket to Hawaii at BART expense. There has been no public report telling the benefits to BART of that trip.

Clark's expenses for that same month of June totaled $1,345.17, including one of his frequent trips to Sacramento to confer with members of the very Senate committee that ordered the Cresap, McCormick and Paget audit of BART.

The audit concluded in one section, "Many trips have been made to Sacramento by members of the board, the output and usefulness of which are uncertain." The audit was distributed to all directors last December, along with recommendations.

Clark as preisdent of the board, approves his own expense reports as well as those submitted by the district's eight other directors. During the first seven months of this year he has tallied expenditures averaging $906.25 per month. This places him second only to Vice President Elmer Cooper of San Francisco whose expenses have averaged $2,468 per month.

Analysis of the monthly expense reports of all nine directors this year shows that Director James Hill of Walnut Creek, was most careful about spending public funds on personal activities. Hill's monthly average for the January-July period was only $61.42.

The expenses of the other directors averaged monthly as follows: John Kirkwood, San Francisco, $399.18; Harvey Glasser, Alameda, $277.67; Nello Bianco of Richmond, former board president, $248.37; John Glenn, Fremont, $230 70; Ella Hutch, San Francisco (four months) $90.21, and Robert Allen Livermore, $71.81.

It's hot down below

PG&E has the nation's only geothermal power development —at The Geysers in Sonoma County—where it uses natural steam from deep within the earth to turn turbo-generators to produce electricity. We have built 11 generating units there and 4 more are on the way.

How does it work? At its birth, the earth was a hot, molten mass. As it cooled it formed a crust. The molten mass, called magma, is still cooling beneath the crust. Where depths and other conditions permit, those heat reservoirs can be tapped by wells, and steam is brought to the surface, under control, to spin the turbines.

Our geothermal power costs less than power generated by burning oil. We're continuing the development, but at best, geothermal can satisfy no more than 10% of our needs to serve Northern and Central California.

Diversity: Other sources of energy

PG&E employs five sources of primary energy—oil, natural gas, natural steam (geothermal), nuclear fuel and falling water (hydro power). All are used to produce the electricity for PG&E's interconnected network system. They are "mixed" for maximum efficiency to generate power at the lowest possible cost.

To harness water for power, we have built one of the nation's greatest hydroelectric systems. In "average" rain and snowfall years, hydro provides about 50% of our electric energy. The force of falling water makes the wheels go 'round in the generating plants. Hydro generation neither contaminates nor consumes the water itself; it is returned to the rivers undiminished, to serve agriculture and other vital needs.

Building hydroelectric facilities is expensive, but they are economical to operate. The low cost is one reason why our rates, despite recent increases, remain among the lowest in the nation.

But since nearly all economically acceptable hydro sites have already been developed, oil and natural gas have become more prominent in our energy mix in recent years. Unfortunately the costs of these fossil fuels have been skyrocketing. In just five years, the prices for gas have more than doubled and the cost per barrel of low-sulfur fuel oil has quintupled. All but two of the PG&E electric rate increases requested in the past five years were to offset these higher fuel costs.

The alternative to oil and gas, which are getting more scarce and more costly, is uranium. Nuclear power plants can produce electricity at half the cost of a new oil-fired plant. Our two nuclear units at Diablo Canyon will save our having to buy 24 million barrels of expensive imported oil a year.

These are the good reasons why PG&E and other utility systems, at home and abroad, are building nuclear plants.

Coal one day may be our sixth source of primary energy. We are in the process of acquiring reserves in Utah.

Recent developments in solar power show interesting promise, but its use as a major source is, at best, many years away. Tidal and wind power are still in limited development, and may never become practical for large-scale commercial use, but research continues.

The demand for electricity continues to grow, partly because population itself continues to grow. In 1974 alone, about 100,000 more people were added to PG&E's service area. Energy conservation efforts must continue, but conservation efforts alone will not eliminate our need to build ahead today for your tomorrow.

It's our job to keep you provided with adequate energy and reliable service at the lowest possible cost. And for our part, we intend to do just that.

For your part, we hope you will continue your efforts to conserve energy. It is too precious to waste.

Christian Womanity conference

Looking as "Strictly Feminine" as her daily Oakland Tribune column headlines her by-line, Marcy-Bachmann spoke to the Christian Womanity area-wide conference held at San Damiano in Danville recently. Seventy-five avid listerners heard Ms. Bachmann state very firmly that "men and women are not equal!" She feels that until such time that a "unisex is developed (in a million years)" and "as long as we are not biologically equal, we will NOT have equality." She doesn't consider herself a "strong liberationist" and further proved this point by stating "it doesn't lessen a woman to say 'we need men!" "Women are fantastic," Marcy emphasized, "because they ARE women — not men."

Mardi Gras campaign

Recipients of help designated

The Pleasanton Junior Women's Club selected recipients of funds from the 1976 Mardi Gras extravaganza at a special session.

After thorough examination of requests, the majority of Juniors has decided to dispense Mardi Gras funds on the following priority basis:

The first $1,000 will go to the Pleasanton Emergency Relief Fund, an agency of the Salvation Army which gives temporary aid to people in Pleasanton who need emergency assistance.

The next $2,000 will go to the new Volunteer Bureau, which is a clearinghouse for valley-wide volunteer needs and resources located in Pleasanton.

The Pleasanton Bicentennial Committee will receive $3,000 to publish a special bicentennial pictorial history of Pleasanton.

Valley Memorial Hospital will be given $2,000 for the purchase of a special projector and recorder for slide programs for patients and the public.

Any remaining money will go to the Pleasanton Bicentennial Horizon Committee to be put into a bicentennial Fund and used where most needed.

This year's Mardi Gras campaign, which begins with actiities in December, will be the fifth annual fund-raising event of its kind. Mardi Gras activities comprise the major project of the Pleasanton Junior Women's Club.

The 1975 campaign reached a high-water mark with a total of p19,000 raised. Proceeds in other years have been $6,000, $13,000 and $12,000 successively.

Heritage guild elects board of directors

Janet Newton, well-known local historian, assumed the chairmanship for the Livermore Heritage Guild for her second year at their recent annual meeting.

Her co-officers include Vice Chairman Walter C. Bullard, Secretary Olga Peiffer, Treasurer Capt. W. Mansfield, and Membership Chairman Anna Brown.

Two-year directors will be Patricia Hoenig, Dorothy Nielsec, T. Edward Peiffer, Dr. Ted Perkins and Karen Rasmussen.

The Guild will cooperate with the Livermore Bicentennial Organization in the publication of notecards with prints of old photos of Livermore. They will sell for $1.75 and will be available locally.

Club deals with 'bad habits'

"It's All Right to Suck Your Thumb if You Don't Inhale" will engage members of the Livermore-Amador Toastmistress Club in a discussion of good and bad habits Wednesday, Oct. 22 at Home Savings and Loan Association in Livermore.

Spontaneous and prepared speeches on the formation and elimination of habits will comprise the first half of the meeting, with part of an educational series on speech-making completing the evening. The club meets from 8 to 10 p.m.

The evening's educational talk on the use of audio visual aids in demonstration speeches follows last week's presentation on autobiographical and biographical speeches. A third presentation on humorous speeches is planned.

All valley women are welcome to the meeting and may contact Arlene Morgan at 455-0164 for more information.

THE WHIPLASH INJURY

Statistics indicate that you will have at least two auto accidents in your lifetime. If you have been in an automobile accident, you may have suffered a whiplash sprain injury. You should have your neck and back examined by a doctor of chiropractic immediately. You have been jerked violently in the auto accident and with everything happening so quickly, you may not realize you have been injured. At the instant of impact, your body moves in one direction while your head snaps in the opposite direction. This causes a whiplash sprain injury to your neck and back. You may feel pain immediately but the whiplash sprain injury does not always have immediate symptoms. Often the pain may not appear for days or even weeks!

There are three clinical stages of a whiplash injury.

STAGE ONE: (Acute)

Symptoms are: Headaches, neck pains, muscle spasms, burning sensation to injured area, pain radiating from neck in shoulders and arms, mid back pain, low back pain with pain radiating into legs. You may also have feelings of quizziness and nausea.

STAGE TWO: (Intermediate)

During stage two you will have a gradual reduction of these symptoms of stage one. You slowly develop joint stiffness, your muscles begin to feel weak and you just feel tired.

STAGE THREE: (Chronic)

This stage has loss of motion to the spinal joints: Extreme muscle weakness and inability to perform usual physical at work and in the home which may last for the remainder of your life. Many persons suffer partial and permanent disability from whiplash sprain injuries. X-ray findings of the spine takes months after the whiplash sprain injury show calcium deposits in the ligaments, bones and joints known as traumatic arthritis.

If you have been in an auto collision, have your neck and back examined and treated immediately by a doctor of chiropractic. Early treatment may save you from a lifetime of pain and suffering.

NEEDED THIS WEEK

'Americana' theme of Foothill band review

Foothill High School Band Boosters president Don Paukert has announced that 25 high school bands from northern and central California have entered "Americana '76, a Band Review and Halftime Competition," scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 8 in Pleasanton.

Proceeds from the event will go towards covering travel expenses the band must meet when competing in other band reviews.

So far the Foothill High Falcon band has earned ten trophies, winning over other more experienced bands as the school has freshmen, sophomore and junior students Band director is Bob Moorefield.

Bands that have entered to date are those from John Swett (Crockett), Willits, Half Moon Bay, Capuchino (San Bruno), Prospect (Saratoga), Crestmoor (San Bruno), Modesto, Miramonte (Orinda), Dublin, Silver Creek (San Jose), Tracy, Live Oak (Morgan Hill), Los Altos, Armijo (Fairfield), John F. Kennedy (Fremont), Downey (Modesto), Livermore, Sunnyvale, Glendora (from the San Gabriel Valley in Southern California), Lodi, Granada, Watsonville, Fresno, Clovis and Piedmont.

Initial event on Saturday, Nov. 8 will be a parade of all the bands, starting from Amador Valley High School to the County Fairgrounds. Starting time is 11 a.m.

Bands will be judged on musicianship, marching and showmanship by a panel of renowned music educators.

Fifteen bands will be selected to put on a 7 to 9 minute halftime - type show that evening at Amador Valley High School's Patterson Field. First, second and third place awards are planned for the half-time type presentations. Four awards will be given in each of the parade categories as well as for drum majors, percussion and flag selections.

Admission for the evening performance is $1.50 for adults and $1 for students.

As in all band reviews, the Sweepstakes Award is the prime trophy. It is to be presented to the best overall band and has been donated by the Bicentennial Committee.

In addition to Foothill's band director, Bob Moorefield, over 50 band booster parents are the working force behind this first band review to ever take place in Pleasanton.

Chuck wagon restoration Centennial class project

If Craig Prouty's classroom at Harvest Park School in Pleasanton resembles a staging area for an overland wagon train, be advised the class is just restoring a chuck wagon.

But they also have plans to build a log cabin for the Nature Park near the classroom.

Prouty and his seventh and eighth graders are jumping into the Bicentennial celebration with both feet and hands.

A former ranch owner, Prouty stumbled upon the chuck wagon...or what was left of it.. while gathering fire wood at the Buckeye Ranch in Lafayette. Prouty estimates the wagon as being about 120 years old.

The activity is all part of a Centennial '76 class prouty is conducting this year.

Class activity resembles a five-ring circus with portions of the wagon being restored, girls making quilts and pillows and others, such as Teresa Bowers, compiling reports on colonial times and candlestick-making.

Prouty and the class hopes of building a log cabin depend on getting surplus telephone polls from PG and E or railroad ties. If not, they'll have to build it of adobe.

When the wagon is completely restored, the class plans to enter it in a local parade, towed by a two-horse team, display it at the County Fair and then request permission to put it in the local historical museum.

Lydiksen students to Big Trees

Over 70 students from Lydiksen School in Pleasanton traveled to Roaring Camp and Big Trees Narrow Gauge Railroad last Friday.

Following the same route that their great - grandparents may have traveled over 100 years ago, they passed over spiraling corkscrew trestles that wound around magnificent virgin redwood groves, some over 1,000 years old.

The old-fashioned logging cars in which they rode were pulled by an original 1880 steam train that actually saw service in the legendary Gold Rush Country of California at the turn of the century.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

When you use the short club properly there are several rules to follow. The first one is that you do not bid it when your distribution is anything except 4-4-3-2 or 4-3-3-3. The second is that you do not bid it when you only hold two clubs. The third is that you do not bid it when you hold four diamonds to an honor.

Another name for the short club is the junior notrump since in general it is bid when you have notrump distribution and are too weak to open one notrump.

In general when you open a club with 4-3-3-3 distribution and your partner does not bid your suit you should rebid one notrump and conceal your four-card major. Thus, South rebid one notrump, not one spade.

This time it is all rather unimportant. North-South would reach three notrump on any bidding system and make an overtrick.

Ask the Jacobys

A Mississippi reader wants to know what you should respond to partner's forcing two-spade bid when you hold: ♠K J 4 ♥A 9 7 6 5 ♦K 3 2 ♣7 4.

We recommend a mere raise to three spades to set the suit. Later on you plan to take further action to show that you really have a tremendous hand opposite a forcing bid.

WBA, Pleasanton await fate

The Western Basketball Association, having dropped its imposter's role, may return for another season next January. It's not certain, however, if Pleasanton will hold one of the franchises as it did a year ago.

Newly appointed WBA commissioner Barney DeBisschop said yesterday he'll hold a meeting Nov. 3 in Emeryville to determine how many towns want his league. It will take a $2,000 deposit to get a franchise, he said.

Right now six teams look definite. If they all come through with the cash, the WBA will commence its fifth season right after New Years.

If the money isn't forthcoming from enough sources, a few remaining clubs will play barnstorm basketball.

There's no word from the Pleasanton entry, the Tri-Valley Warriors, on whether or not it will return The club's general manager, Ernie Lazzereschi, attended two league meetings during the summer, DeBisschop said. He was not at the last one, however.

"He showed a great deal of enthusiasm at the first two meetings, but I haven't contacted anybody since," said the commissioner.

Lazzereschi wasn't available yesterday.

DeBisschop, who was the founding commissioner of the WBA five years ago, but who left last season, says the floundering league will drop its purported professional status.

The WBA announced it was turning pro last season, and promised players $25 per game. Halfway through the year, however, one team folded, and the rest quit paying players' stipends.

The attempt at pro basketball is what forced DeBisschop to step down for a year as the WBA boss.

"That was their demise," he said of the concept. "That's the reason no one will pay anyone this season. I will not tolerate it.

"If you want to play in this league, you're going to play for the enjoyment," DeBisschop said. Barney is a former commissioner of the AAU.

The WBA is $3,500 in debt, DeBisschop said. It will cost each franchise sponsor approximately $3,000 if the league functions this year. They will be held accountable for last winter's debts, the commissioner said.

Pleasanton's team won the league championship last year though it was one of the community's best kept secrets. Scant handfuls turned out for most Tri-Valley Warrior home games.

The league as a whole suffered a similar fate after four years of operation at the semi- pro level.

"We lost four years of pioneering by last year's poor performance," DeBisschop said. "The league folded. There was no administration. But I think we can put it together solidly, and in a business-like manner if we get enough money up front."

Freshman QB stars for Glads

Chuck Stevenson convinced everyone but his coach that he can play quarterback in Chabot College's 24-14 win over DeAnza Saturday night.

Terry Cagaanan, the coach, already knew that.

Stevenson, a freshman from Marina, starting just his third junior college game, passed for 291 yards and three touchdowns as Chabot boosted its record to 3-1, and gained a share of first place in the Golden Gate Conference.

Chuck began playing less than a month ago after Chabot lost sophomore Don Moore, and then freshman Steve Grant, to injuries. He suffered seven interceptions in his first two appearances, including five during a loss to San Jose City College.

But Saturday against DeAnza, Stevenson clicked on 19 of 29 throws, and hit super wide receiver Tom Ferguson on touchdowns of 27, 10 and 16 yards.

"He's been doing great no matter what," Cagaanan said yesterday. "He got picked off a few times in the first two games because he hadn't practiced," ( Stevenson had been sidelined with an ankle injury). "In the San Jose game they knew we had to pass so they were waiting for him.

"He's been improving every week," Cagaanan said, "and his performance Saturday was as good as any we've ever had by a freshman at Chabot.

"We knew we had a good player in Chuck. He would have been battling for the starting spot early in the season but he was hurt. The capabilities were always there. He just needed the chance."

Stevenson was co-recipient of Chabot's offensive player of the week award yesterday, sharing it with his favorite pass target, Ferguson.

Tom caught 12 for 200 yards and the three scores against DeAnza. For the season, the sophomore from Hayward had 36 catches for 494 yards and four scores. He is averaging 13.7 yards per catch.

Freshman Steve Duncan of Dublin kicked his fourth field goal in two games for the Gladiators, a 29-yarder in the third period.

By winning, the Gladiators drew even with DeAnza and West Valley atop the GGC. Another conference co-leader, San Jose, could manage only a tie over the weekend.

Chabot plays at winless Laney Friday night.

Not one member school reached the top 15 in voting by the East Bay Prep Writers Association. Granada, 4-1, did receive honorable mention again, however, as did Amador Valley, 2-3.

Washington remains the area's number one team, followed by Mission San Jose and Pinole Valley. Pinole defeated previously fourth-ranked Richmond, 21-8.

Cincy, Sox try again

BOSTON (AP) — Game No. 6 of the World Series almost got itself played Monday night. Almost, but not quite.

So, for the fourth day in a row the opposing managers talked about strategy for the sixth game, and for the third day in a row the game was put off by the kind of storm that often plagues New England in the fall and spring for days at a time.

The last time they played a game in this Series, which Cincinnati leads over Boston by three games to two, was last Thursday and it will be at least tonight before they play again. Weather forecasters, who have been right so far, said today will be nice here, brightening hopes that a game will be played at 8:30 p.m. EDT.

The biggest development Monday was word that a number of the Red Sox are suffering from viruses and colds. "Even Luis Tiant is sick," said Boston outfielder Dwight Evans, among the suffering.

"Most of the players are sick right now with some kind of virus," Evans said.

But Boston Manager Darrell Johnson said Tiant, the 34-year-old righthander who owns both Boston victories, will pitch the sixth game against Cincinnati's Gary Nolan. The seventh game, if needed, will feature Boston's Bill Lee against Cincinnati's Don Gullett.

The rain that forced postponements on Saturday and Sunday actually let up for a couple of hours Monday. A fine mist was coming down when Commissioner Bowie Kuhn toured the soaked Fenway Park outfield late in the afternoon.

For a while it seemed that Kuhn might try to get the game in. The rain had subsided and the forecast for the evening was good. But the squishy condition of the outfield grass convinced the commissioner to postpone the game.

While Kuhn examined the field, Fenway Park groundskeepers slowly drove an aerator over the soggy outfield grass, trying to dry it out. "The field is not suitable for a World Series game of such importance," the commissioner said.

Sealtite Roofing takes 22-20 win

Sealtite Roofing exploded to a 16 point first quarter and went on to defeat Royal Volvo, 22-20, in Livermore Flag Football Saturday.

It was Sealtite's first win of the year.

Stan Peters shot the winners to an early lead when he threw first quarter touchdown passes to Charlie Chambers (25 yards) and Jerry Gerard (10 yards).

In the fourth quarter, Peters connected with Frank Sullivan on a 30-yard scoring toss.

Royal scored on runs of five yards by Bob Wood and six yards by Dave Knight, and on a 58-yard Ed Miller to Jim Herron pass.

Rad Lab Green boosted its record to 3-2 with a 16-14 win over Straw Hat Pizza.

The Greens scored twice in the second half to win. Robin Green ran 75 yards for the first touchdown and fired a touchdown pass to Bart Sellick for the other score.

Straw Hat scores came on Mark Hartman's four-yard pass to Lawson Ramsey, and a 16-yard Hartman pass to Jim Halverson.

C.E. Tyler stayed a half game out of the lead with a 15-8 win over Rad Lab Grey.

The winners scored all their points in the first period. Richard Moreno caught a 30-yard touchdown pass from Dan Duke for one touchdown, and Duke hit Jim Brown on a 40-yarder for the final score.

The Lab's Ray Warner hit Jim Watkins on a touchdown pass.

Standings — Cheese Factory, 5-1; American Realty, 4-1; C.E. Tyler, 4-1; Rad Lab Green, 3-2; Royal Volvo, 3-2; Straw Hat Pizza, 3-3; Sealtite Roofing, 1-4; Rad Lab Grey, 1-5; Allied Brokers, 0-5.

Wolves topple Mat harriers

Tim Galvin continued his fine running as he recorded a fine 17.17 to pace his San Ramon cross-country team to an easy 21-34 victory over Granada in East Bay Athletic League meet yesterday.

Scott Kusko of the Matadors finished second with a 17.28 clocking. Brian Norris of San Ramon was third in 17.33 and Jim Anklam of the Wolves followed in 17.37.

The Wolves forefited the girls' race to Granada. The Matadors in turn forefited the junior-varsity and frosh-soph races to San Ramon. All of these races were still run but not on a team scoring basis.

Karen Daley of Granada won the girls race in 8.39. Bob Sale of San Ramon won the junior varsity-frosh-soph race in 12.31. Craig Rousseau of Granada was second in 13.04 and Bruce Boer of Granada took third in 13.11

Shell Information Series:
Motor Oil

I want to help your car's engine live to a ripe old age.

By Bruce Boswell, Shell Lubrication Expert

Bruce Boswell

Whether you use Shell or another motor oil this information might put off that awful moment when the mechanic says, "This isn't going to be cheap."

Motor oil is your engine's life blood. The type of oil you use and the way you use it can help you get thousands of extra miles without a major engine repair.

Oil's enormous job

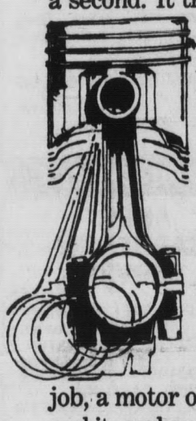
At 55 mph, each piston in your engine moves up and down inside its cylinder about 35 times a second. It travels about a quarter of a mile for every mile you drive. When you step on the gas, the piston rods push against the crankshaft with a pressure of more than a thousand pounds per square inch.



A film of motor oil thinner than this newspaper page separates these parts and keeps them from grinding each other to pieces.

Besides this lubricating job, a motor oil should clean the engine, help cool it, and protect against rusting. With all this work to do, your motor oil deserves your attention.

SAE 10W, SAE 30, etc. What those numbers really mean

Those are viscosity grades. They tell how thick the oil is. The higher the number, the thicker the oil.

The SAE stands for the Society of Automotive Engineers, who set up the grades. The W means it's for cold weather use.

When starting an engine in cold weather, a thin oil like 10W will flow well and protect well. But as the engine gets hotter, the oil gets thinner, and a 10W can't always protect a hot engine adequately.

The opposite is true for a high viscosity grade like SAE 30 or 40. It's thick enough to protect a hot engine, but on a really cold morning it would be too thick. The engine would be hard to start and the thick oil would be slow getting to vital parts.

Multigrades

Multigrade oils, the kind with two numbers like 10W-40, contain chemicals called polymers that make them act like low viscosity grade oils when the engine is cold and high viscosity grade oils when the engine is hot.

So why doesn't everybody buy multigrades?

Because single grades generally cost less. And many people can use them satisfactorily, depending on the weather and the way they drive. To find the grades that we recommend for the temperature range in your area, see the chart at right.

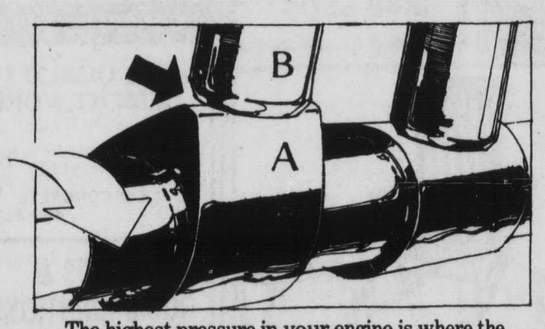
Things to consider when choosing a motor oil

Consider the kind of driving you do. Perhaps a single grade 10W is right for normal winter driving in your area. But on a long highway trip with a heavy load, the engine will get pretty hot even though it's cold outside. You'd need a 10W-30 or 10W-40 for high temperature protection as well as quick winter starts.

The condition of the car can make a difference. If the car is hard to start when it's cold, a low viscosity oil can help it turn over. If your car is an "oil burner", a high viscosity oil can cut consumption. (But get it fixed as soon as you can. It pollutes.)

It doesn't hurt to mix when adding oil–if. If the oil in your engine is right for your car, and the oil you're adding is too, it doesn't make any difference if they're different brands.

Today's cars need not be "broken in" with any special oil. At your first oil change, start off with the right oil for your car, then stick with it.



The highest pressure in your engine is where the camshaft (A) pushes against the valve lifters (B). Here, an anti-wear additive in the oil lays down a thin film that must protect while pressure reaches about 100,000 lbs. per sq. inch.

A good oil doesn't need help from an oil treatment. An oil that meets the car maker's warranty service requirements is designed to do everything your engine needs. Look for "Service Classification SE" on the can.

What oil changes really do

Maybe you've heard a story about a guy who never changed his oil and drove 50,000 miles without a breakdown. Some of those stories might be true for all I know. But I wouldn't try it with my car.

The fact is, you play the odds with oil changes.

Today's high quality oils and filters do a commendable job of protecting against the dirt, soot, acid, and other junk that gets into your oil. The oil's detergent properties are so good that about a pound of this contamination can be suspended in your oil where it will drain out at changing time.

But there's a limit to what the oil can do. If you don't change, eventually the additives that suspend dirt, fight wear, and so forth will be used up, and trouble can start.

So, while you can save a few bucks on oil over the life of a car by stretching between changes, I don't think it's worth the risk.

Find the grade Shell recommends for your climate.

* Not recommended for sustained high speed driving

Try this motor oil fact or myth quiz.

Your oil can look dirty and still be OK. Fact. The oil gets dark because engine contamination is being held in the oil instead of deposited in the engine.

Motor oils made from Pennsylvania crude necessarily perform better. Myth. Where the crude oil comes from has little to do with the quality of the finished product. Refining and additives make the important differences in motor oils.

Everyone should change the filter every time they change oil. Myth. Most car makers recommend changing the filter every other time. If you're changing it every time, you may be wasting money. Check your owner's manual to find out.

Multigrade oil can save gasoline. Fact. In a cold start-up, a 10W-30 or 10W-40 multigrade oil will be thinner than a single grade 30 weight. Therefore the engine runs with less drag and uses less gasoline. In cold-weather short-trip driving, when the engine never really gets warmed up, some drivers may save as much as 3.4 percent, depending on the car and the temperature.

Now some information about Shell motor oils:

Check the Shell lineup for the right motor oil for your car.

Shell X-100® motor oils are available in single grades SAE 10W, 20W, 30, and 40. Each offers the protection you need for its temperature range. And each meets the warranty service requirements of every U.S. car maker. And most foreign cars.

Shell X-100® Multigrade motor oil is an SAE 10W-40, an all-season oil offering excellent high temperature protection plus good low temperature startability. Its patented formula fights sludge and other contaminants that can harm your engine.

Shell Super X® motor oil earns the 10W-50 rating, the widest multigrade range you can buy. If you want even greater high temperature protection than Shell 10W-40, this oil is for you.

With proper care and a top quality motor oil (and Shell Super X is our finest) we believe that most of today's newer cars can be expected to go 100,000 miles without a major engine repair and with no appreciable sacrifice in performance.
